

Health Assessment 302 Exam 2 practice questions

- 1) Providing resistance while the patient shrugs his or her shoulders is a test of which cranial nerve?
 - a. II
 - b. V
 - c. IX
 - d. XI

- 2) On examination, the infant's fontanel should feel:
 - a. Tense or bulging
 - b. Depressed or sunken
 - c. Firm, slightly concave and well defined
 - d. Pulsating

- 3) It is normal to palpate a few lymph nodes in the neck of a healthy person. What are the characteristics of these nodes?
 - a. Mobile, soft, nontender
 - b. Large, clumped, tender
 - c. Matted, fixed, tender, hard
 - d. Matted, fixed, nontender

- 4) Visual acuity is assessed with:
 - a. Snellen eye chart
 - b. Ophthalmoscope
 - c. Hirschberg test
 - d. Confrontation test

- 5) The 6 eye muscles that control eye movement are innervated by cranial nerves:
 - a. II, III, V
 - b. IV, VI, VII
 - c. III, IV, VI
 - d. II, III, VI

- 6) Conjunctivitis is associated with:
 - a. Absent red reflex
 - b. Reddened conjunctiva
 - c. Impairment of vision
 - d. Fever

- 7) Using the otoscope, the tympanic membrane is visualized. The color of the membrane is:
 - a. Deep pink
 - b. Creamy white
 - c. Pearly gray
 - d. Dependent on the ethnicity of the individual

- 8) During the otoscope examination of a child younger than 3 years, the examiner:
- Pulls the pinna up and back
 - Pulls the pinna down
 - Hold the pinna gently but firmly in its normal position
 - Tilts the head slightly toward the examiner
- 9) In examining the ear of an adult, the canal is straightened by pulling the auricle:
- Down and forward
 - Down and back
 - Up and back
 - Up and forward
- 10) Which cranial nerves has the rise of the soft palate, uvula midline, swallow and gag?
- IX, X
 - X, I
 - II, IX
 - IX, V

Answer Key:

- D
- C
- A
- A
- C
- B
- C
- B
- C
- A