73) Debt Service Fund – The size criteria states that a fund must be at least 10% of the total of all governmental funds for at least one of the elements (assets, liabilities, revenues, expenditures/expenses), and it must be at least 5% of the total of all governmental funds and enterprise funds for the same element. The debt service fund meets the size criteria for revenues since 10% of the total of all governmental funds is $1,377,000 and 5% of the total of all governmental and enterprise funds is $856,150, both of which the debt service fund exceeds. (The thresholds for the other three elements are: assets—10% is $1,500,000, 5% is $1,050,000; liabilities—10% is $458,000, 5% is $294,500; expenditures/expenses—10% is $1,346,000, 5% is $833,250.)

General Fund – the General Fund is always classified as a major fund and it meets the size criteria for all of the elements.

76) The basic financial statements include two government-wide financial statements, seven fund financial statements, and notes thereto. The government-wide statements are a statement of net position and statement of activities designed to report on the operational accountability of the government as a whole. The fund financial statements that follow are designed to report on the government's fiscal accountability for spending according to legal budgets, laws, and agreements with resource providers. A balance sheet and statement of revenues, expenditures, and changes in fund balances are required for governmental-type funds, as well as a reconciliation of the change in fund balances to change in net position at the government-wide level. A statement of net position; a statement of revenues, expenses, and changes in fund net position; and statement of cash flows are required for proprietary-type funds. A statement of net position and statement of changes in net position are required for fiduciary funds.

77) The statement is not correct. The GASB specifies that a governmental accounting system must make it possible both to prepare statements in conformity with GAAP and to prepare legal compliance reports. The former are the basic financial statements on which auditors express an opinion; the latter are special purpose reports that may or may not be accompanied by auditors' reports.

78) Measurement focus describes what is measured; that is, the nature of the resources, claims against resources, and flows of resources that are measured and reported by a fund or activity. The basis of accounting describes when things are measured. The economic resources measurement focus reports on the balances and flows of both current and noncurrent assets and liabilities, whereas the current financial resources focus reports only on the balances and flows of current assets and liabilities. The accrual basis of accounting recognizes revenues when earned and expenses when incurred, where the modified accrual basis recognizes revenues when measurable and available for current spending and expenditures when a current liability has been incurred.

Governmental funds use the current financial resources measurement focus, and proprietary and fiduciary funds use the economic resources measurement focus. Governmental funds use the modified accrual basis of accounting. Proprietary and fiduciary funds use the accrual basis of accounting. Governmental and business-type activities at the government-wide level report on net position and activities using the economic resources measurement focus and the accrual basis of accounting.

79) These seven fund statements are required in the basic financial statements (assuming that an entity has funds in each of the three fund types):

- Balance sheet—governmental funds
- Statement of revenue, expenditures, and changes in fund balances—governmental funds
- Statement of net position—proprietary funds
- Statement of revenues, expenses, and changes in fund net position—proprietary funds
- Statement of cash flows—proprietary funds
- Statement of fiduciary net position
- Statement of changes in fiduciary net position

In addition, a reconciliation of (1) the total fund balance of governmental funds from the balance sheet—governmental funds to the governmental activities net position from the government-wide statement of net position, and (2) the change in total fund balances of governmental funds from the statement of revenue, expenditures, and changes in fund balances—governmental funds to the change in governmental activities net position from the government-wide statement of activities, are required on the face of the financial statements or as separate schedules.

The governmental funds are accounted for using the current financial resources measurement focus and modified accrual basis of accounting. The proprietary and fiduciary funds are accounted for using the economic resources measurement focus and accrual basis of accounting.

80) Governmental activities are those that are core governmental services, together with general administrative support. Examples include public safety, public works (e.g., road and bridge maintenance), parks and recreation, cultural, and social services. Business-type activities are those that are self-supporting through user charges for services they provide, although operating subsidies from general tax revenues are not uncommon. Typical examples include public utilities, such as water and sewer, transportation systems, golf courses, and swimming pools. Fiduciary activities are those in which the government acts in a fiduciary capacity, either as an agent or trustee, for parties outside the government. Examples include trust funds that benefit individuals and organizations outside of the government.
